

GENDER STUDIES

No. 20 / 2021

<https://reference-global.com/issue/GENST/20/1>

Author & Title	Page no.
Michael Keller Murderous Masculinities the Early Republic of Charles Brockden Brown's Wieland	1-16
Paul Innes Performing Patriarchy in Much Ado About Nothing	17-30
Zsuzsanna Lénárt-Muszka Reproductive Racism in Danielle Evans's "Harvest:" Black, Chicana, and White Motherhoods in the Context of Reproductive Rights Discourses	31-45
Catherine Macmillan Speaking with the Dead: The Sick Chick and the Psychic Crypt in Gail Honeyman's Eleanor Oliphant is Completely Fine	46-58
Elsa Adán Hernández Nan King's Orientation in Sarah Waters's Tipping the Velvet: A Journey of Gender and Sexual Self-Discovery Following "The Slantwise Direction of Queer Desire"	59-74
Gabriela Glăvan Female Authority Figures in Dorothea Tanning's Chasm: A Weekend	75-90
Sofía Martinicorena "Are You a Bad Boy?": Variations of the American Adam in David Lynch's Blue Velvet	91-109
Jm Esterhuizen and Gh Van Rensburg The Role of Gender in the History of the Professional Development of South African Nursing and Nursing Organisations	110-127
Mihaela Vlăsceanu Imperial Identity Seen Through Art. The Case of Maria Theresa – Considerations	128-148
Ruxandra Vişan On Dictionaries and Gender Representations	149-153
Alina Preda BOOK REVIEW: Susan Watkins. Contemporary Women's Post-Apocalyptic Fiction. London: Palgrave Macmillan, 2020, 220p. ISBN 978-1-137-48649-3.	154-158
Anda Dimitriu BOOK REVIEW: Agnieszka Stasiewicz-Bieńkowska. Girls In Contemporary Vampire Fiction. Cham, Switzerland: Palgrave Macmillan, 2021, 277p. ISBN (ebook) 978-3-030-71744-5.	159-163